PUBLISHED BY MR. MURRAY.

IRELAND IN THE NEW CENTURY. By the Right Hon. SIR HORACE PLUNKETT, F.R.S., Vice-President of the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland; Member of His Majesty's Privy Council in Ireland. Large crown 8vo, 5s. net.

"Beyond doubt one of the most thoughtful and faithful contributions to the Irish question that have been made by any writer during the last twenty years. We have here a book which, unlike so many others written on the same subject, is at once practical and theoretical, which enters into the life and character of the Irish people, and which suggests methods of helping them that have been tried and not found wanting in actual administration. . . . A book of real importance."—Westminster Gazette.

THE OLD STORIES OF IRELAND.

Edited and Translated by LADY GREGORY.

GODS AND FIGHTING MEN. The Story of the Tuatha de Danaan and of the Fianna of Ireland. With a Preface by W. B. YEATS. Large crown 8vo, 6s. net.

"To say that Lady Gregory's new collection of Irish legends is worthy of her 'Cuchulain of Muirthemne' is praise enough."—Daily Chronicle.

CUCHULAIN OF MUIRTHEMNE. The Story of the Men of the Red Branch of Ulster. With a Preface by W. B. YEATS. Second Edition. Large crown 8vo, 6s. net.

"In his interesting preface to Lady Gregory's 'Cuchulain of Muirthemne,' Mr. W. B. Yeats expresses his opinion that it is the best book that has come from Ireland in recent years. In this we heartily concur."—The Times.

POETS AND DREAMERS. Studies and Translations from the Irish. Second Edition. Crown 8vo, 6s.

"The most charming book that has come out of Ireland for many a long day. . . . We are grateful to Lady Gregory for some hours that could not have been more pleasant if they had been spent in the country in actual converse with poets and dreamers."—Morning Post.

THE DIVINE VISION,

And Other Poems. By A.E.

Crown 8vo. 3s. net.

Mr. Henry W. Nevinson in the "Daily Chronicle,"—"Almost equally delicate in his perception of nature with Mr. William Yeats, his interest seems almost further removed from the visible things of this world, and even more closely enwrap in the spiritual things that are called eternal. Without comparing or contrasting these two poets who stand among the leaders of that Irish Revival which is the most remarkable spiritual event of our time, we may think Ireland happy in possessing two such men."

ENGLISH MEN OF LETTERS. NEW SERIES.

Thomas Moore. By STEPHEN GWYNN. Crown 8vo, gilt top, flat back. 2s. net.

John Maxwell's Marriage. By STEPHEN GWYNN. Crown 8vo, gilt top. 6s.

Athenaeum.—"A fine and stirring tale. . . . It is a good story well told, and deserves to be well read."

St. James's Gazette.—"One of those stories which leave in the mind of the reader an ineffaceable impression of life and reality. . . . The story is original and unique, and skilfully handled plot holds the interest closely throughout. . . . The book is written with a refreshing grace and charm."

The Old Knowledge. By STEPHEN GWYNN. Second impression. Crown 8vo, gilt top. 6s.

Westminster Gazette.—"It is long since it has been our good fortune to meet with a novel so fresh, breezy, and altogether charming."

Highways and Byways in Donegal and Antrim. By STEPHEN GWYNN. Illustrated by HUGH THOMSON. Second impression now ready. Extra Crown 8vo. 6s.

Daily Telegraph.—"This is the very perfection of a guide-book, enriched by a profusion of graceful sketches from the pencil of Mr. Hugh Thomson."

---

Fishing Holidays. By STEPHEN GWYNN. Extra Crown 8vo. 8s. 6d. net.

Fishing Gazette.—"Very pleasant volume. . . . The general reader of angling books will find much to interest him, and those thinking of visiting the Donegal district will certainly find many useful hints and alluring accounts of sport."

The Isle of the Shamrock. Written and Illustrated by CLIFTON JOHNSON. Extra Crown 8vo. 8s. 6d. net.

Globe.—"Will be read with great pleasure. . . . The book as a whole is a thoroughly pleasant one—eminently readable, and at the same time full of information."
